Library of Congress, Veterans History Project

The LVVHP is actively seeking veterans of all U.S. Wars and Conflicts to record their personal stories and experiences during the war. This includes taping their interview and compiling copies of any documentation that a veteran wishes to provide.

The veteran can either do a public presentation during a Roundtable Meeting, or a private interview can be arranged.

We can also help compile records for the Project for deceased veterans.

The Project also desires a record from those who served on the “home-front”. If you know anyone, please contact us.

Guest speakers are scheduled in the best of faith by all parties. Unfortunately, last minute health issues and personal circumstances may prevent their eventual appearance. Thank you in advance for your understanding.
